

FRYE CAUSES A SENSATION IN THE SENATE

Closing Sessions Of Present Congress Promise
To Be Exceedingly Busy.

TO TALK THE MEASURE TO DEATH

Senate Democratic Leaders Decide Upon Radical Steps
As Regards The Ship Subsidy Bill
In The Senate.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 2.—Senator Frye of Maine startled the whole senate today. He was on his feet making a report from the committee on commerce on several minor bills, a duty which he performs frequently and as a rule attracts but little attention or interest. Suddenly raising his voice Senator Frye exclaimed: "If I get an immediate consideration for that dam bill I will promise the senate not to report another dam bill this session." Amid the general laughter the bill passed and a dam will be built across certain shoals on the Savannah river.

In The Senate

By a roll call vote of 62 to 1 the senate today instructed the conferees on the pension appropriation bill to insist on the retention of eighteen of the pension agencies located throughout the country. The house abolished seventy of those agencies, retaining only one at Washington. This action is characterized in the senate as "without rhyme or reason," revolutionary and "desire to centralize all power in Washington."

Minority Report

The minority house committee on banking have submitted a report in opposition to the Fowler asset currency bill. The views of the secretary of the treasury that the measure is totally inadequate as the emergency does not meet the demand for an elastic currency, are emphasized.

Ship Subsidy

As a result of a conference between the democratic leaders of the senate and the house it practically has been decided to "talk the ship subsidy bill to death" in the senate in order to prevent that body concurring in the house amendment adopted yesterday.

Start Tactics

This afternoon the democratic senators started in on a determined filibuster with a view of preventing a vote on the bill before the adjournment of congress. After the defeat of many dilatory motions a general agreement was reached and the bill will be taken up for consideration at five o'clock this afternoon.

Organized Labor

Organized labor has asked congress to institute an investigation of all the facts and circumstances attending the arrest in Colorado of Chas. H. Moyer, William D. Haywood and George F. Pettibone, officers of the Western Federation of Miners, and their deportation to Idaho to stand trial on the charge of conspiracy to murder ex-Governor Steiensenberg.

he was brought, Circuit Judge Kirwan this morning refused to sit further in the case of the Manitowoc Water company against the city for ten thousand dollars hydrant rental. T. C. Zander, a postoffice clerk, is accused of making charge of graft and will probably be dismissed.

Tyler, of Dayton, trustee of the state blind asylum at Columbus.

LONDON RESIDENTS DREAD BANKRUPTCY

Fear That Progress of Socialists, Who Are Now in Control, Will Overturn Treasury.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, March 2.—The hottest political struggle in the modern history of London ends at the polls today in the election of a new county council. The issue is solely the question of the further municipalization of local industries. At the present time, the progressive socialists are in control of the county council, where they have been entrenched since 1889. They have lately sprung a new enterprise, which contemplates the purchase of nearly all the existing electric lighting and power undertakings, at a cost of $120,000,000. It has been pointed out that most of these plants will be useless in great centralized electrical works, entailing an enormous initial loss, which of course will fall really upon the taxpayers. Moreover, all electrical engineers agree that the council is totally unable to manage the contemplated works to the best advantage, especially since the industry has not yet passed beyond the speculative stage. London is already on the verge of bankruptcy as a result of the extravagance of the progressive socialist government. Under their control the city's debt has increased from $35 a head to $50 a head. Realization of the critical condition of affairs has finally roused the taxpayers to extraordinary efforts to turn the socialists out at today's election. The latter, however, are well entrenched and the indications seem to favor a renewal of their power.

OLD TIME CONGRESSMEN CENTERS OF ATTENTION

Some Will Not Return At Next Session, And Said Farewell Today--Allison In Congress Forty-Two Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., March 2.—This was a day for "swan songs" at both ends of the capitol. With the close of the present session, the curtain drops on the congressional career of a number of well-known members, merely an intermission for a few, perhaps, but unquestionably the final curtain of a good many.

In the house the familiar faces of Grosvenor of Ohio, Davenport of West Virginia, Bankhead of Alabama, Wadsworth of New York, Babcock of Wisconsin, Lacey of Iowa, McCleary of Minnesota, Fred Landis of Indiana, and other members of more or less prominence will be missing when the Sixtieth Congress convenes.

Among those who go out of the senate with the end of this session are Patterson of Colorado, Dubois of Idaho, Clark of Montana, Dryden of New Jersey, Blackburn of Kentucky, Carmack of Tennessee, Millard of Nebraska, and the veteran Berry of Arkansas.

While members come and members go the congressional careers of a lucky few appear like the babbling brook, to run on forever. In this connection someone recalled the fact that the venerable Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa was 78 years old today. Needless to say he received a continuous stream of congratulations from members of both branches of congress.

The anniversary also reminded his colleagues that on Monday "Uncle Billy," as he is endearingly known by everyone in national public life, will have rounded out 42 years in congress and 34 years in the United States senate—a longer term than any other man in that chamber, and, with one exception, the longest in the history of the republic.

The next longest term of any present senator is that of John T. Morgan of Alabama, with 30 years. Close behind him are the two senators from Maine, Mr. Hale and Mr. Frye, who entered the senate together 26 years ago, and Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, who came several months later. Mr. Allison's lead is already so strong that with the two remaining years of his present term, added he will probably hold the record for a century to come.

If Senator Morgan were a young man he would stand a show perhaps to pass the Iowa senator's record. With thirty years' tenure in his credit now Mr. Morgan has recently been re-elected to a sixth term, so that should Mr. Allison's career close in 1909, at the end of his present term, it is at least possible for Morgan to tie him.

With a break of two years that elapsed between his leaving the house and entering the senate, Senator Allison has been in congress steadily since 1863, and what he does not know about legislative methods will probably never be known by anyone. As chairman of the appropriation committee he has for years occupied one of the most influential positions in all councils of congress, and as head of the republican steering committee he has controlled the consideration of all political measures.

Senator Allison's health occasioned some concern at the beginning of this session, but appears now to have completely recovered from his illness. During the past month he has been in his seat every day and is as active on the floor as clear of thought and ready in speech as ever.

Senator Allison has been a power in shaping the course of the nation's greatest affairs. With every president it is said that he has been in close touch, especially with President McKinley and President Roosevelt. He enjoys the fullest confidence of his friends in Iowa in congress and in Washington's official circles.

There has been but one member of congress whose tenure of office exceeded the present record of Senator Allison. This was Justin S. Morrill of Vermont, who was in the house 12 years and then followed it with 32 years in the senate, making a total of 44 years in congress. Iowaans are hopeful that before their grand old leader shall have cast aside his senatorial toga he will have rounded out a half century in the work of congress.

Senator Allison is practically sure of a re-election in 1909, which if he lives to serve out his seventh term, not at all improbable, as he is only 79, will give him a record of 42 years in the senate and 8 years in the house, a total of just 50 years.

Senator Morgan is just as sure of retaining his constituency, as is Senator Allison, but the Alabama senator is now 63 years of age. Under these circumstances, and in view of the fact that he has a lead of four years over Senator Morgan, it is safe to say that Senator Allison's record of long service in the upper branch of congress is in no danger for many years to come.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kenosha, Wis., March 2.—That the tires used by Ed. Collier's automobile were not those shown by the sand prints near the dead body of William Dwyer of Wheaton, Ill., was proved in the manslaughter hearing this morning. The defense sprung this at the start to prove that although Collier's machine struck a man, another killed him. A dozen experts were put on to show the difference in tires. It is believed this is the first time auto footprints ever played such part in the courts.

REV. IRL HICKS'

TALK OF MARCH

DESCRIBES WHAT WE MAY EX-PECT TO HAPPEN THIS MONTH.

THE LONG RANGE WEATHER

Says That We May Expect Several Storms—Evidently March Will Be Like a Lion.

According to Rev. Irl Hicks today should see a snow storm throughout the north and northwest and rains and electrical disturbances in the warmer belt. A cold wave is supposed to be approaching from the northwest where such storms come from and from now until the seventh matters promise to be lively. March 11th is the next date set for a storm centering upon rain, snow, stiff gales on land and sea, auroral lights, earth currents interfering with telephones and telegraph and kindred phenomena are promised without restriction. From the thirteenth to the 17th the weather is to get much warmer. Rain and thunder storms are to come sweeping the entire country.
Along about the fifteenth, however,
these visions of spring are to be turned into snow and ice and the last gasp of a dying winter will be felt in the west and northwest. This will center about the nineteenth and in Janesville will be felt by the defeated candidates for office at the primaries more keenly than others. The old fashioned March winds and breezes zephyrs are to come after this last struggle on the part of old Father Winter. The position of the earth and the stars is going to have a good deal to do with this weather and before March really goes out another storm period with rain and wind is to come. The Vulcan storm period comes the last few days of the month. If the earth manages to weather through the storm period centering on the 20th with earthquakes and tidal waves it will be safe for a few weeks longer or until April is well in hand.

NOT THE LARGEST NOR THE

LEAST.

There are a great many firms transacting business throughout the various parts of the country that have a great prestige on account of the large number of persons in their employ but it never dawns upon their customers that the many minor details of importance, entirely escape the trained eye
of the proprietors and many times proves disastrous.

It has been proven, especially during the last decade, that the best results are many times obtained from the most unexpected sources; sources that had been previously considered of minor importance. Why? Because the transactions were under the direct supervision of the proprietors whose interests it is to satisfy their clients.

Any shrewd business man can readily see the advantage of patronizing a firm who has your interests at heart, and will personally look after the same to your perfect satisfaction, securing for you the best possible results.

is Dead.

Thomas Abbott has received announcement of the death of his uncle, U. S. Ordnance Sergeant Thomas Mc-Guire (retired) of Brighton, Boston.
The deceased was a brother of Mr. Abbott's mother, Mrs. Margaret Abbott of Milwaukee and also Mrs. Catherine Candillon of Chicago, and Mrs.
Michael Watson of Chicago. Mr. Mc-Guire was seventy-seven years old and had been in the military service of the United States for thirty-six years.
He entered the army at St. Louis in 1874 and retired in 1890. From the time of enlistment until the close of the civil war he saw continuous service. He was one of the regiment that made the famous six miles' circuit
march of 2200 miles from Fort Leavenworth, Kas., to California, during the Indian uprisings in that region of the country. At the outbreak of the rebellion he was color sergeant to Co. I, Sixth U. S. regulars, and all through the struggle he fought with exceptional gallantry. At the battle of Manassas Junction he was severely wounded and on recovering, which was toward the end of the war, he was detailed to Fort Stanish, Plymouth, Mass., and subsequently to Fort Independence, Boston Harbor. Mr. Mc-Guire survived by a wife, four sons, and three daughters. One son is in the Boston fire department, another in the police department and a third in the employ of the government as an inspector of rivers and harbors.

Some New York writer, who has been making a study of the police statistics of the principal cities of Wisconsin, gives Janesville a decided black eye in his list of figures on arrests where drunkenness is the cause.
His figures, which appeared in an exchange, are as follows:
"Janesville is given a black eye by this writer's figures, the Bowler City being credited with the highest percentage of 'drunk' arrests." Janes-ville's percentage was 1.95. Other cities with a bad reputation in this respect are: Stevens Point, 1.91; La Crosse, 1.82; Kosciusko, 1.77; Rippewa Falls, 1.68; Merrill, 1.61; Fond du Lac, 1.55. Milwaukee's percentage was 1.12. Wausau, judging from the New York man's figures, held the record for the least inebriety."

mystified to find the parlors sparkling with miniature articles of tinware of all description. Upon inquiring they learned it was the tenth wedding anniversary of the bride and her husband.
The tables were lavishly decorated with tin and diminutive plates of tin were the favors. It is needless to say the occasion was very much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Laurence Bagley gave a six

SALT RIVER VALLEY ONE OF THE WONDERS OF COUNTRY.

THE GREAT FERTILE VALLEY

Description of Country of Cactus and Caterpeds, Scorpion and Flies.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 25, 1907.
Remembering your suggestion to write you a letter concerning this country I will now try and tell you some of my impressions gathered from my winter's stay.

This Salt River valley contains about 250,000 acres and at present less than one-fourth of it is under cultivation. Up to 1900 the valley was in barren condition. There came heavy rains that washed out the dam in the river and broke through the canal in several places. After that there were two or three years of dry weather and hundreds of acres of land went back to desert, and for a number of years, or until 1904, things looked very dark. A great many fruit trees had been put out and there was no water and the trees died. In 1904 the United States government reclamation service took up the work here and started the Tonto-Dam and that has given a new impetus to the work all over the valley. A great many new settlers are coming in and there is quite a movement in real estate. Land values are in my opinion very high. Unimproved land covered with sage brush and grease wood is held from $100 per acre and improved ranches at from $100 to $250 per acre, depending on the improvements.

One quarter section just north of us has just been sold for $10,000. Practically no improvements at all on it.
The purchaser will make four forty acre farms out of it. Land in the orange belts is still higher, one lot of ten acres oranges in bearing is held at $3500. The winter climate here is simply delightful. Warm sunny days with the mercury from 70 to 80 degrees and cool nights. A great many people live in tents and tent-houses
the year round, but the summers are very warm and as many of the people that can afford to go to California or to the mountains for July and August.
For example, the winter population of Phoenix is about 15,000, that goes down to 8,000 in the summer.

Phoenix is a fairly good town as western towns go. A good many fine residences; not as many good stores or as good business blocks as Janesville. Rents are high. Stores like mine rent here at $125 to $150 per month, and prices are from 50 to 100 per cent higher for everything except meat. The dealers say it is the high freight rates, but from my observation it is not so much high freight rates as it is lack of competition. Everything is in a combine. The grand jury indicted the ice men, the lumber dealers, the grocers and the meat dealers, but the government attorneys could not prove any combination and they were all discharged.

The valley is supported mainly by tourists and sick people, but everyone hopes that when the big dam is done
and water is plenty that conditions will change. Almost anything will grow here—fruit of all kinds. The only difficulty is the lack of a market.
When enough is raised so carloads can be shipped then things will be different.
We are enjoying the arm weather for all we can read the Gazette everyday to see how cold it is in Janesville, but we are now getting ready to come home about March 18.

The valley is entirely surrounded by mountains. The nearest to us is old "Camelback," with an elevation of 2710 feet and is only about two and one-half miles away. There have been six or seven good rains since Dec. 1
and now everything is covered with vegetation and the desert is blooming with flowers. The orange trees will be in full bloom in another week.
While this is supposed to be an arid country the winter rains average about six to eight inches and after that it all depends on irrigation. The trees are very different from those that grow in Wisconsin. Palms, olives, "capers," pepper and eucalyptus are overgreen, while the cottonwood, ash
and umbrella trees drop their leaves,
and the new growth is just coming out. Farmers sow wheat and barley from Dec. 1 to March 1, and as fine fields as I ever saw are here.

The population here is very cosmopolitan, nearly every state is represented. Also a great many Mexicans, who furnish the bulk of the laborers and figure quite prominently in the police courts. The Pima Indian reservation is about eight miles east of us and every Saturday they come to town and sell their wares. One of the show places of the valley is the United States government Indian school three miles from Phoenix, with an attendance of 700 pupils. They have a fine band and a first class baseball team. Another show place is the ostrich farm. There are several hundred of the big birds in the valley. They seem to thrive wonderfully well and on all appearances are a paying proposition.

We are having quantities of fresh garden vegetables that I have grown since I came here in November and will have plenty till the hot weather comes.

Hoping to see you all before long.
I remains, yours,
WALTER HELMS.

One of the mysterious fires that occur at questionable times destroyed twenty-four thousand dollars worth of property on the Gritty Six mine near Cuba City before last. A large share of the stock in the mine is owned by Janesville people.

The loss is covered by insurance.
The fire followed most immediately upon a meeting of the stockholders at which it was decided to form a close corporation and assess the stock forty cents a share for development pur-

FOUR HUNDRED SAW

THE HOWE PICTURES

Stirring Dramas in Strange, Out-
the-way Corners of the World Revealed Last Evening.

Four hundred people witnessed the splendid series of moving pictures thrown on the screen by Lyman H.
Howe's life drama at the Myers theatre
last evening. Besides the desultory ramble through the old world, including views of the herring fisheries of Scotland and a carnival of flowers in Italy, there was a detailed tour of the principal places of interest in Ireland.
The spectator passed down the broad avenues of Dublin and Cork, lingered at a corner here and there to watch a band of urchins at play; was whirled across country to Blarney castle; inspected the peat beds and saw the peasants cutting the cakes and loading the dry ones on the patient donkeys; visited the humble home of the cottager; and even listened to bits of conversation from the pig, the cow,
and the dog, the old crones smoking
pipes, the goose-herder, the milkmaid,
and the town crier.

One of the most remarkable films was that unfolding a whale hunt in its stages from the time when it was across the desolate expanse of turbid sea, the great leviathan was seen to spout, up to the moment when the harpoon-gun had accomplished its deadly errand and the monster was churning the waters alongside of the ship; and finally, as the ship was stripped of its hide on the shore. Mr. D. J.
Tasker, the manager, says that the view was secured after years of patience and toil from six different contributors in almost as many quarters of the globe. The films were attached and the wonderful drama, in which several different ships and whales and quarters of the ocean actually play a part, is unfolded intact.

Dizzy peaks of Switzerland were scathed, comprehensive trips through some of the most famous manufacturing and wonderful mountain scenery were made, and amusing comedy skits from time to time gave variety to the journey. The mechanical work behind the screen, which included the reproduction of all manner of sounds (and noises, and the piano accompaniment in front, were admirable. Every picture was clear and distinct and the appreciation shown was a guarantee that there will be standing room only on the occasion of the semi-annual visit next fall.

for repairs yesterday, the number 90
was used for switching.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST
Fair tonight and Sunday, not much change in temperature.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The president of the Penn Central railroad said, the other day, that the stock of his company was held by 30,000 stockholders, and that the stock of all the American railroads was distributed among 500,000 shareholders, and yet many people regard these corporations as close corporations, owned and controlled by a handful of officers and directors.

The statement is true, for no class of stock is so widely scattered as railroad stock. Yet no class of property is so lightly regarded by the general public, and the confiscation of this class of property is regarded as legitimate.

The two-cent fare proposition, which is sweeping over the country like a tidal wave, is popular, and but little thought is given to the injustice that may be done to a certain class of property.

The protests offered by the railway companies, amount to nothing, and the statements made by the officials, who are held accountable for earnings, are treated with indifference and skepticism.

The one and all-absorbing theme is a two-cent fare, and the legislatures of twenty states are ready to meet the popular demand, regardless of consequences.

The American people are inclined to be erratic and impulsive, and as a result many theories are exploited, and many impractical measures adopted. We have spasms of reform, and then drop back to normal conditions.

Sometimes these reform movements become formidable by organization, and sometimes they are kept active through a magnetic and zealous leader of the John Brown type.

They find congenial soil in the realm of politics, business, society and religion, and they flourish until worn out or absorbed by some new fad.

The "greenback craze," which captured so many good men, was but a whirlwind, to the cyclone of free silver which struck the country a few years later, carrying before it 6,000,000 American voters, absorbing the populism of Kansas and many other small political side issues.

When John P. St. John retired from the field of action, the cause of a national prohibition received a national jolt, and scattered energy was concentrated in half a dozen states, while the W. C. T. U. masked its batteries on the army canteen and routed the monster root and branch.

The Rev. Parkhurst of New York startled the nation by a heavy bombardment on dens of vice and iniquity, while Bishop Potter of the same city attempted to reform the saloon by substituting a temperance whiskey shop.

In the realm of theology, the "Holy Jumpers" are filling the vacancy caused by the collapse of Dowelism, while the disciples of Christian Science are advancing under the leadership of Mrs. Eddy.

Not so long ago, yellow journalism was tabooed and denounced on every hand, but today the Hearst papers have a circulation of 4,000,000, and the family paper, more sacred than the family Bible, would be discontinued instantly, if it failed to contain a detailed account of the Thaw trial with all its wealthy nastiness.

The people demand it, and the President's protest is silenced by the argument that young men and women will be warned by an object lesson which they will never forget.

This abnormal craving for the sensational and vulgar suggests the thought that while we are alert as a people to the abuses of swollen fortunes and great corporations, and disposed to regulate everything in sight, in the interests of reform, that possibly the moral standard is not exactly what it seems.

It is always a pleasant task to reform another people, but the virtue of a nation is not handled in job lots, nor catalogued by mail order houses. Public sentiment is the massing of the unit known as the individual.

When the city of Chicago says in convention, "Mayor Dunne suits us for mayor," it means that he fills the bill for the majority, and when the press of the country is loaded with Thaw's fifth, it means that the reading constituency demands this sort of literature.

Janesville is shortly to have a city election, the most important event of the year. The spasm of municipal reform which visited the town a few years ago, accomplished its mission and retired in short order. Official life has been free from the taint of graft or dishonesty to such an extent that it has been practically colorless.

The officers have, in many cases, gone a begging and as a result incompetency has prevailed to greater or less extent.

There is practically no issue in the present campaign, except the ever-present issue of selecting and electing honest, conservative, public-spirited men to the council.

The city has about 3500 voters, 2500 of whom are taxpayers, which means a standing for stability second to no city anywhere.

It means a large list from which to select good men to office, and about the only caution required is to avoid timid people who are afraid of the cars.

If the city is to grow away from the cemetery, it will need the stimulus of an intelligent and wide-awake council who believe in doing things. The list of candidates in sight and in hiding contains a number of men of this class, and one of the reforms which Janesville needs is to place this class of men in charge of public affairs.

More than goodness is necessary to make a good alderman. A man may be so good that he leans the wrong way, yet so obstinate or lazy that he becomes worse than a nuisance. He might be good enough to vote the prohibition ticket, yet totally unfit to fill the office of a city father.

What the city needs in the council is representative businessmen of good moral character, men who have made a success in their own business, and who enjoy the confidence of the people. The saloon question is not an issue, gambling in itself is not an issue. If it were possible to elect men committed to suppress both, they would accomplish but little, for laws do not enforce themselves, and the most of us are too timid to complain.

The businessmen of Janesville are interested in good morals as well as in practical business methods, and it is safe to trust public interests in their hands.

The common council of thirty years ago was representative. A return to the old days in selecting men for office will accomplish much in the way of reform.

YES, IT FOOLED THEM

The dear old antiquated Madison Journal admits that the Gazette's story last Monday relative to the proposed capitol park was a big one, but alleges that the Gazette did not scoop anybody, merely fooled them. That's right, Dear Journal, call it fooling if you want, but do not chew so many sour grapes over it. The difference between fooling the state papers and scooping them is so trifling, that if it pleases your sleepy brain to call it fooling, why do so. About the only time that you are awake is when some public pup is to be distributed and you call on your brother editors to help you get it.

Now Jerome is sure that Thaw is crazy. If he is so sure now, why did he make such a scene with Thaw's wife? His cross-examination of this little woman has lost him the respect of many self-respecting men and women.

The persistency with which some candidates seek election even after having suffered defeat at the hands of the people only a year ago is wonderful. It would be thought that one turnaround by the "dear pepul" would be enough.

So Cooper has decided to ignore his old henchman for the sake of a younger man and appoints David Worthington to be postmaster of Beloit in place of his tried and true friend, Cham Ingersoll.

Whatever caused the Madison Journal to consider itself upon a level with the big state papers? Nothing it has done for the past eight years could have led anyone to believe it even had the audacity to make the claim.

The ship subsidy bill was defeated once and then was brought to life and passed with some changes. Clever work by Speaker Cannon is responsible for this imposition upon the American public.

Still there are men who say that the Panama Canal problem is one which will not be solved for years.

The Milwaukee Journal is still explaining why it did not publish that Capitol park story first.

That Brownsville affair is getting to be very tedious.

PRESS COMMENT.

Counting the Cost
El Paso Herald: The present Thaw trial will cost the taxpayers of New York something like $125,000, and it will set the defense back some $400,000.

The Truth Will Out
Exchange: Uncle Sam is niggardly when it comes to spreading mulch on the backs of his postage stamps. If this be treason, make the most of it.

Good Word for Corporations
Evansville Review: About the only people who have not had their salaries raised during the past year are the ones who do not work for the corporations. That's one good word for corporations anyway.

Takes up Cudgel for Canteen
Racine Journal: Congress denied the post canteen to soldiers' homes. This is a concession to extremeism; and a flat denial of common sense in dealing with the veterans.

"Hahvahn" Is Rebuked
Milwaukee News: President Roosevelt has turned his fine scorn upon the mollycoddles. The cravens and weaklings, however, will do well to lie low, while the mollycoddles are getting it.

President might have uttered a few earnest words concerning the gezer, the slob, the mutt, the pifance, the flak, and the cheap skate.

Cary Becomes Dictatorial
Sheboygan Journal: State Superintendent Cary has "handed down" another decision, this time forbidding school officials to charge admission fees for entertainments in school buildings. What's the use of a state supreme court when we have a state superintendent of public instruction to interpret the law?

The Chicago News Muse
We hope that Mr. Harriman will never have the face to rise and tell the infant class, while pointing to his case, that honesty and industry alone will win the race.

Common Uncommonly Dealt With
Chicago Tribune: William Dean Howells registers his seventieth birthday anniversary on March 1, Mr.

Howells has been accused of exalting the commonplace, but he never makes the mistake, so common among his imitators, of dealing with the commonplace in a commonplace manner.

Mildly Opposes the Plan
Evening Wisconsin: The Madison capitol park enlargement scheme will not strike the average taxpayer of the state very favorably; and if the project should be "localized" it would strike the average taxpayer of Madison harder than he would like, even for the beautification of his home town.

Should Zion Turn to Dowie
Kenosha News: It would be a queer thing if Zion City should turn back to Dowie after all, but close observers of the trend of public opinion in the city claim that the old leader is regaining his hold on many of his former supporters, and that he may yet live to again be the head of the church he founded.

Housering Blarney
Grassie-In-the-Evening-Wisconsin: Anent Houser, I told Pliny Norcross that I respectfully desired to withdraw my congratulations on his appointment by Gov. Davidson as regent of the university, inasmuch as Mr. Houser disapproved. Houser thinks Norcross is too much of a stalwart. He wants the war kept up. Oh shucks.

Net Result of Mollycoddling
Evening Wisconsin: The University of Wisconsin boat crew will not go to Poughkeepsie this year, unless the student body contributes heavily to a purse to cover the expenses. Heretofore the football team has managed to earn enough to pay the way of the navy, but things are different now, with the finances of the gridiron aggregation. The reform which has kept the football players at home may also compel the oarsmen to stay in Madison and display their skill to their fellow students.

"ALWAYS BUSY."

Recently one of Dr. Richards' patients caught sight of his daily appointment book which showed that almost every working hour of his time for weeks and weeks back had been filled to the limit.

The office reception room outside was also full of waiting patients.

The party mentioned that things looked pretty busy around there.

"Yes," said Dr. Richards, "they do."

"But no more today than it always is with me nowadays."

"Well, you ought to be busy," replied the party. "Any man who makes the effort to do his work deserves the support of the public."

And there's truth in that statement.

People appreciate the efforts of a man who endeavors to alleviate their sufferings.

They often enter his office as white as a sheet.

Fear deprives them of power to control their nerves and.

Some actually scream before they get in his operating chair.

But under his considerate care they soon find their fears groundless, and depart with a different opinion of one dentist at least.

"Once a patient of Dr. Richards, always a patient," is the usual outcome when people put aside their prejudices and are fair minded.

Simply because

"He delivers the goods."

VICTORY FOR BOYS; DEFEAT FOR GIRLS

High School Basketball Teams Played Out of the City Last Evening.

Both first basketball teams of the local high school played out of the city last evening and boys secured a victory while the young ladies went down to defeat. The boys were at Burlington and there dealt defeat to the high school five of that place by a score of 43 to 24. The result was a big surprise to the Burlingtonians, they having been victorious by a score of 31 to 25 when the two teams met in Janesville several weeks ago. The line-up follows: forwards, Langdon, captain, and Cunningham; center, Crissey; guards, Jensen and Baker; substitutes, Benson, Strang and Piffard. The girls, who played the young ladies at the Delavan high school, were less fortunate. An exceedingly small gymnasium and the absence of a portion of their regular team resulted in a score of 21 to 4 in favor of Delavan. The players were: forwards, Louise Bennett, captain, and Helen Jeffris; center, Eloise Piffard; guards, Marjory Bennett and Mae Granger; substitute, Mame Jones. Miss Terry of the high school faculty accompanied the young ladies as chaperone.

IN DAMAGE ACTION AGAINST THE CITY

Question of the Legality of Grading and Macadamizing Magnolia Ave. Will be an Issue.

In the complaint which has been filed in John Brown's $1,000 damage action against the city for the devastation of his crops by the storm of August 8, which case will be tried by Atty. Fred Burpee and City Attorney Maxfield in circuit court some time during the coming week, the whole question of the legality of the city's proceedings in grading Magnolia road and Oak Hill avenue and constructing sewers, drains, and culverts at the intersection of Washington street, is drawn into the issue. It is set forth in this document that it has been the duty of the city for many years to establish and record a grade on streets before doing any work on them; that no grade has ever been established on Magnolia Ave., Magnolia road, nor Oak Hill avenue, nor recorded by the city clerk; that in grading and macadamizing the first named thoroughfare and the construction of sewers, drains, and culverts at its intersection with Washington street, the city acting through its officers made no pretense whatever of complying with the provisions of the charter; that the expenses exceeded $500; that if the work had been lawfully done the expense would have been chargeable to the real estate fronting on that avenue; that prior to doing such work no recommendation in writing signed by a majority of resident owners was ever presented to the council; that there existed no affidavit or petition duly verified by which it appeared that Magnolia avenue should be graded, macadamized, paved or repaved, planked or replanked; that, as a matter of fact, a majority of the resident owners refused to sign a recommendation for such work; that a recommendation for such work was never presented to the council; that no benefits and damages were ever assessed or ascertained by the board of public works; that no notice was ever published nor order ever passed directing such work; To the raising of the grade of the street from one to three feet above the level of surrounding property, the replacing of open gutters with sewer drains at the intersection, the diverting water that had naturally passed off over lands to the north and south, to the intersection of Magnolia and Oak Hill avenues, and the building of a sort of dike along the north border of the plaintiff's 20 acres, is attributed the damage to crops caused by the storm. The sum of $1,000 is asked in restitution.

STATION PLATFORM DISGRACE TO ROAD

Says Communication From Persons Who Often Travel on St. Paul Line.

During the last few years the half flooded condition of the C. M. & St. P. railway passenger platform on rainy days has been the cause of considerable complaint and derogatory comment among Janesville citizens and traveling men and today the following caustic communication was received at the Gazette office:

Editor: Insistent demands for the improvement of the passenger service on the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul road have compelled the company to inaugurate a Sunday train and establish a through service to Milwaukee as well as a through service to Chicago. A campaign of publicity exposing the poor accommodations between Janesville and Milwaukee, has forced both the St. Paul and Northwestern lines to add trains or shorten the schedule times of their runs. No doubt similar methods will be necessary to secure the much needed improvements of the St. Paul company's Janesville passenger depot platform. The engineer who planned the platform must have forgotten about drainage for it appears that the platform was about level and since being constructed has sunk in the middle. The result is that every rain creates a small lake, inundating several square rods. Passengers going to trains on the second or third tracks are compelled to walk a block or two out of the way or wade through water and mud two to five inches deep. The first and second tracks are within the borders of this pond and incoming trains throw the water for several feet on each side, bespattering dresses and suits of passengers. In my mind a repair of the platform would only be a useless expenditure of a large sum. It would seem that a sewer with several catchbasins would be the only remedy. Though complaints have been made to the Milwaukee officials, nothing has as yet been done. Why cannot some concerted action on the part of Janesville people and traveling men who reach here on rainy days be made?

American Society of Equity

Footville, March 2.—A local was organized at Footville on Feb. 25 with eighteen charter members, with the following officers: Wm. Stevens, president; Chas. Berger, V. Pres.; Fred Bemis, Sec.; and James Murphy, Treas. H. E. Holmes of Milton was present and spoke on benefits to be derived in the society and the "Tobacco Auxiliary" of the A. S. of E. promises much for the growers—much more than the statement of the Rock county self-styled "official organ," that Wisconsin tobacco is grown for thirty or less dollars per acre. Such a statement sent out broadcast over the country may be all right for the "dealers," who paid for it, but looks about as simple to growers as some other tricks of the trade. Of course tobacco growers are feeling good as a result of last year's returns for their crop, but we don't forget that old "tired feeling" which is very liable to return without warning and this society will endeavor to prescribe a better remedy than inviting all Christendom to come to Wisconsin and grow tobacco at thirty dollars per acre to be sold at one hundred and seventy-five. Farmers are invited to come to Footville March 5 at 1:30 p. m. and learn how we propose to do it and other things of interest to the general farmer.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Waywardness of Fish. Chicago Record-Herald: Harriman insists that he tried to get Stuyvesant Fish to reform. We can easily picture to ourselves the anguish Mr. Harriman must have suffered when he found cause to suspect that any man might use the funds of a railroad or any other corporation, such, for instance, as an insurance company, for his own profit.

Fairbanks Still Hopes

31 Paso Herald: Taft may be the jolly-master of the administration but Fairbanks is certainly its dinner giver. No prominent republican politician gets away from Washington without a Fairbanks banquet. And yet somehow the rest of the administration seems to be deeply and darkly suspicious of this profuse hospitality.

Will Whoop 'Er up in Vain

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The scheme to invest a couple of million of dollars in a capitol park at Madison, has served to arouse fresh hopes in the minds of some Oshkosh people, that possibly there is still a chance to cut in and make that city the capital of the state. This will afford the Sawdust City an opportunity for a little free advertising, and that's all.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Tells of Young Corbett's Training, Past and Present.

The Young Corbett of today is leading a far different life from that of the Young Corbett of a few years ago. As an instance, view the lad's heroic mode of training at Stratford, Conn.

No more late hours, or should we call them early hours? The kid has given up all the joys of life but hard work. His pet recreation now is to run ten miles in the wake of a four minute truck horse. Whenever the kid stops for a rest Manager Harry Pollock gets off the nag and beats Young Corbett with a whalebone lash fourteen feet long. Pollock thus has fourteen feet start of Young Corbett when the latter tries to "swing one" over on him.

No, the sporting life is not as gay and light as the poets paint it.

The president of the Wisconsin Baseball league asked for a raise in salary and was "canned." Boys, this should teach you not to get too gay with the paymaster.

The boss reporter came in from the snow races the other evening and announced that Elgin Boy had won the first leg on a far coat. This coat is evidently one which the advertising writer would call the product of a creative genius.

The National league doesn't propose to wait for the robins or crocuses before opening the season. Ball games will begin just as soon as it seems possible to get a crowd out.

President Murphy of the Chicago National Cubs vehemently denies that he tried to land President Hermann of Cincinnati a gold brick. The president of the Cubs is right, but, laying that fact aside, wouldn't it have been a really clever piece of work to have handed a satchelful to so astute a man as the chief of the Reds?

The steeplechase race has claimed another victim. But the race track promoters imagine the public wants a little vaudeville along with the legitimate, and the game will go on.

A New Jersey genius has invented a combination auto, alship, ice yacht and auto sled. We predict the highest fatality percentage of any machine known to civilization. How could it miss?

Tommy Ryan wants to fight again, so he says. The trouble with Tommy is that about the time a fight is in sight his desire backslides.

A senator from Kansas used to be a jockey. It takes a man with a big pull to get into the United States senate.

Accompanying this article is a drawing from a rare old pagillist's photograph. The picture shows the training quarters of the Young Corbett of a few years ago. Inside the Denver kid is in the midst of a six hour bout with his sparring partners and attendants.

CORBETT'S OLD TIME TRAINING QUARTERS AT EVENTIDE.

These bouts would last from 35 to 192 rounds (of Jack poss). There would be many "draws" and several knock-outs, all in the same contest, strange as it may seem.

Every man would be his own referee, and the ring was only about five feet in diameter.

It was the great nervous strain of this sort of training that helped Young Corbett down the ladder. He was over-trained. The kid loved his training so well that no one could drag him away from it long enough to put him in bed.

TELLER BEATS A REPORTER.

Fitzgerald, Subtreasury Employee, Acts Like Crazy Man.

Chicago, March 2.—George Fitzgerald, teller of the United States sub-treasury, after being subjected to a grueling cross-examination by Chief, Wilkie and Capt. Porter of the secret service, attacked a reporter in the federal building Friday and threatened to kill him. He had tried to conceal himself and when he was discovered he attacked Harry Friend, a reporter for a morning newspaper, and knocked him down several stairs from the eighth floor of the federal building.

Fitzgerald mumbled something about his wife having been insulted during the morning by Friend. As the reporter had been at the federal building all morning, it was impossible that he could have been at the Fitzgerald home, where the alleged insult is supposed to have been given.

After Fitzgerald was dragged away from the reporter, he drew from his coat pocket a leather blackjack about eight inches long and brandished it in the air. He threatened to kill Friend.

Two rumors of significance were current Friday afternoon in the federal building. One was that Fitzgerald had made a partial confession, giving the government some information as to the whereabouts of the missing money. The other was that his answers to questions under the fire of the government agents were not lucid and that he acted in a manner of a man half-demented.

S. S. Shirer, the assistant United States district attorney detailed on the case, would not deny that the answers made by Fitzgerald were not clear, and that his conversation was incoherent.

Half an hour before the attack upon Friend, Fitzgerald is said to have fainted away under the examination by the secret service operatives. The offices of Capt. Porter, where he was being examined, were opened and water was brought to restore him.

Black Hills Foundry Burns.

Deadwood, S. D., March 2.—The Black Hills foundry, having contracts for all the ironwork of the Great Belle Fourche government irrigation project, burned Thursday night, with total loss. It is believed all the patterns for the irrigation works were destroyed, but of this the managers are not yet sure.

Frisco Trolley Car Runs Away.

San Francisco, March 2.—A trolley car on the Haight street line ran away Friday on the steep hill leading from Gough street to Market and crashed into another car, fatally injuring the motorman. A number of passengers were more or less seriously hurt.

Six Killed in Collision.

Pedro, Wyo., March 2.—A freight train running at high speed ran into the rear end of a work train on a siding here early Friday. Engineer Charles Shepherd, of Sheridan, Wyo., and five Austrian railroad laborers were killed.

Bad Sleet Storm in Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., March 2.—A heavy sleet storm Friday plastered Des Moines with ice, tying up street car traffic, damaging telephone and telegraph wires and seriously interrupting train service out of the city.

Modern Reading.

Life of the Oyster.

When a fortnight old the oyster is not much larger than the head of a pin. At the end of four years' growth it is fit for the market. Oysters live to the age of from 12 to 15 years.
